

November election in Connecticut. I believe it is important for me to spend time with people in Connecticut, listening to their ideas and concerns. These next 2 months will provide me with a good opportunity to learn more about their views on how we can move forward to solving our Nation's most pressing problems. That being said, I plan to return to the Senate for votes when my presence is a deciding factor and important committee business in which my participation is crucial. The task of representation is truly a two-way street, and I value those times, such as during campaigns, when citizens and their elected representatives can engage in a democratic dialogue. I am looking forward to continuing to participate in that process and also continuing to represent the people of Connecticut in the U.S. Senate.

HONORING GARY STEVENS

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize Gary Stevens, an accomplished Hall of Fame jockey and Idaho native.

Gary retired in 2005 from an impressive career in horse racing that includes several victories in each leg of the Triple Crown, as well as multiple titles in the Santa Anita and Breeders' Cup races. Holding claim to honorary awards and international racing cups, Gary's popularity only grew in 2003 when he played the role of George Woolf in the Academy Award nominated movie Seabiscuit.

It is an honor to note that Gary started his career in Idaho. At 16 years old, Gary rode his first thoroughbred winner at Les Bois Park in Boise. Born in Caldwell, Gary's father was a riding trainer and his mother was a rodeo queen. This summer, Idaho Governor Jim Risch named a week in Gary's honor, to spotlight this accomplished jockey's ties to Idaho.

On behalf of thousands of Idahoans who are proud of him and his Idaho roots, I say congratulations to Gary Stevens for a lifetime of outstanding achievements.

LET US LOOK UPON THE OCEAN WITH REVERENCE

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, during the August recess, one of my constituents, Michael Mulroy, of Fairhaven, wrote a very thoughtful article that was printed in the New Bedford Standard-Times on August 15 in its "Your View" feature. Mr. Mulroy's article eloquently describes the restorative and wondrous nature of the ocean and questions the wisdom of placing wind farms and other large-scale industrial projects at sea. He urges us to "look upon the ocean with reverence."

As someone who is committed to preserving the natural beauty of Massachusetts and its magnificent coastal waters, I was moved by Mr. Mulroy's inspiring article, and I believe many of our colleagues will be inspired by it as well. I ask unanimous consent that it be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

"YOUR VIEW: LET'S LOOK UPON OCEAN WITH REVERENCE, UNOBSTRUCTED"

(By Michael Mulroy)

After years of reading about and listening to the debate over the proposed wind farm off the coast of Cape Cod, I felt compelled to weigh in on the subject after reading David Kibbe's article in The Standard-Times.

As a child growing up in one of the tenement neighborhoods in New Bedford, I loved it when my parents would take my sister and me to one of the area beaches for the day. Sometimes we would stop to get ice cream afterwards, or maybe have some clam cakes at one of the small clam shacks that dotted the coast. When it was too cold for swimming, we would still go down to the shore and walk the beach looking for shells or whatever treasure the tide may have washed ashore. In the winter, we would simply take a drive along the seashore and enjoy the scenery. One of the greatest joys for me was looking out at the ocean and being able to see unobstructed to the horizon—there were no tenements or telephone poles or wires or factories to spoil the vista. The ocean was to my mind a blank canvas, I was free to paint my imagination across it, and I dreamed of whaling ships and merchants of days long ago.

Later, when I was first married, one of our first apartments was in Fairhaven. I used to ride my daughter around town in a carrier seat on the back of my bicycle. Wherever else we went, we always went down to Fort Phoenix, and out onto the Hurricane Barrier, and looked out upon the ocean. My grandfather was a construction worker who helped build the barrier, and so it made our visits there all the more special.

Life being what it is, we could not afford to buy a home in Fairhaven at the time, and so we moved back to New Bedford. As time went by, I was eventually divorced from my first wife. Saddled with debt, I was forced to file for bankruptcy. Through hard work and determination, I was able to restore my credit and eventually bought a fine tenement on the same street where I grew up. I went to the beach, I took drives by the shore, but I also worked; I worked hard.

I am now remarried and once again live in Fairhaven. We have easy access to the beach, and I ride my bicycle by the shore. Through all the changes in my life, one thing that has never changed is the ocean. I can still gaze out upon the open sea and look unobstructed to the horizon. I am humbled at the awesome power that lies there. The sheer vastness of the sea amazes me, and I cannot help but think of our great Creator every time I look upon it. Surely this is a holy place! I can imagine how the first people to set eyes upon this wonderful site must have felt, and I feel that as I am able to see what they first saw, I can share their experience.

At first I felt guilty for not wanting to see a wind farm off the coast. After all, this would be a great source of energy. Clean, renewable, it might even lessen our dependence on foreign oil, even if it's only a little bit. I would feel patriotic. I felt like one of the NIMBY (not in my backyard) people, but it just didn't feel right. Some people say that the only argument against the project is that some rich folks on Nantucket and Cape Cod don't want to spoil their view. Rep. Bob Koczera calls it "reasons of aesthetics and really nothing else." I've got news for you, Bob, the grandeur of the world's natural wonders are not "aesthetics!" Aesthetics are in your living room! That's like calling the Grand Canyon "just a hole," or Mount Everest "a big hill and really nothing else."

The ocean is our last wild place on this Earth. We are a throwaway society, and we are too lazy, or too cheap, to bother to clean up the messes we have made on land, and so now we are looking to the sea. Rep. Frank Smizik of Brookline states "We're relying on dirty power plants" and urges us to "get away from that."

Well, Frank, why not hold the Bush Administration to their responsibility, and stop letting them relax pollution standards for these filthy polluters? Why not force them to clean up their act? I, for one, am sick to death about hearing these corporations whine about the cost! Too bad! Record profits for Big Oil sound familiar? All the while, the public is being gouged at the gas pump!

Why do we have to have this wind farm in the ocean when there are many existing wind farms in areas that are not near the ocean? The answer is simple: It is easier, and cheaper! Cape Wind wants to locate here because they feel this is the best location for them. What is best for an energy corporation is not necessarily what is best for the Earth or for our people. It is time we start to think of ourselves as people of the Earth, and not as people who belong to corporations. It is time we listen to the ancestors of our native peoples. Since time began, they have known that the Earth does not belong to us, we belong to the Earth. We are here as her caretakers. They have been telling us this since the white people first came here. It's time we open our ears, our eyes, and our hearts, and listen.

It is time to use self-restraint and set limits for ourselves. We must take responsibility for our actions, and clean up the mess we have made upon our lands, and not expand our careless ways to the sea. Let us look upon the ocean with reverence, and let us see to the horizon, unobstructed, and let it be our inspiration to take back our Earth from unbridled development. Let us say, "Stop!" Enough is enough! We have the technology to develop alternative energy sources without this project. This is not a "do or die" issue. Why not explore other options? Cape Wind would have us in fear of not supporting them now. Who says they are the only energy development corporation on the horizon? Rep. Matthew Patrick wants to "let the process go forward, and if Cape Wind survives based on its merits, it should not be subject to the arbitrary whims of the governor." If? If it survives? Well what Matthew, pray tell, will befall us if it doesn't survive? Who will pay to dismantle it? Or would you rather it just stay out there, a rusting hulk, as a monument to our failure, until it finally collapses into the sea? If that happened, what then would be the danger to navigation? What would be the environmental impact then? Has anyone thought about this? And what about the diesel fuel stored there for the generators?

The sea and its creatures are a precious resource. Today, our fishermen are paying the price for the sins of our fathers. Exploitation of fish stocks since pre-Colonial times has left them depleted to the point of disaster. We cannot think that human invasion of this delicate environment will have little or no impact. I cannot help but think that if we allow this wind farm, that they will want to expand in the future, or that others will want to follow. Will we ask our children to pay forever for our sins?

I am not rich, but this is not about being rich. It is about a deep respect and reverence for our earth, and yes, it is about my vista. When I look out upon the ocean, it is, to me, as if I am looking upon the face of God, so I would say to you: Yes, I would be happy to have a wind farm in my backyard, as long as it stays where it belongs, on land, and not in the middle of one of the most beautiful places on earth, the ocean.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RAPID CITY WEED AND SEED ORGANIZATION

• Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize the hard work and amazing results of the Weed and Seed organization of Rapid City, SD.

The Rapid City group will cease operations later this month after nearly a decade of tireless efforts to rehabilitate a significant portion of the residential and business area in the community.

In partnership with organizations that included the Rapid City Police Department, the Center for Restorative Justice, Volunteers of America, the Project Safe Neighborhood/Gunwise Program, and Good Housekeeping, dozens of individuals came together to address neighborhood crime, abuse, housing, and aesthetic issues.

Primarily focused on the East North and East Boulevard neighborhoods, the Rapid City Weed and Seed organization worked with the Rapid City Police Department on a zero-tolerance policy with an aggressive police presence in areas that were beset with crime, homelessness, and urban blight issues.

The group worked with Rapid City leaders to aggressively enforce city codes involving housing. Vacated and rundown homes and businesses were torn down and replaced with new and thriving businesses and new homes. Other businesses, homes, and apartment complexes were expanded and renovated during this timeframe. Efforts to revitalize Roosevelt Park resulted in the construction of a new ice arena and indoor swimming pool, as part of the city's 2012 economic development program. A business association was formed to bring together local business owners to discuss relevant issues of importance. The Weed and Seed organization also developed an adopt-a-creek program with 21 sections of Rapid Creek adopted by local companies, organizations, and families. The first major cleanup of Rapid Creek since the tragic 1972 flood resulted in the collection of 18 tons of trash, including debris from the 1972 flood event.

Four townhall meetings were conducted with local residents, and annual picnics were sponsored to develop a sense of camaraderie and connection between neighbors.

As a result of these efforts, the East North and East Boulevard areas have once again become a source of pride for the community. This sense of pride is now reflected in the residents and businesses located in the area. These results are due in large part to the collective work of the Rapid City Weed and Seed organization and the partnerships that were developed with city officials, law enforcement agencies, and the local businesses.

Funded through a 5-year Weed and Seed grant of $1.025 million, the local organization will cease operations later this month. I wish to recognize the vision and hard-working efforts of the dozens of Rapid City citizens and officials who have provided tireless efforts to rehabilitate and renovate a key part of the community.

I wish to recognize the help of executive director Patricia Pummel and board members Wayne Asscherick, Phyllis Boernke, Dave Bussard, Jim Castleberry, Patrick Clinch, Cynthia Clinch, Linda M. Colhoff, Richard Cooper, Darcy Dennison, Lee Dennison, Ken Edel, Fred Eisenbraun, Lawren Erickson, Dan Island, Adeline Kalmbeck, Jim Kinyon, Craig Kirsch, Eileen Leir, Burt Lang, Carol Lang, State legislator Alice McCoy, Jim McCoy, Dave Morgan, Lou Morgan, Sharon Oney, Kenneth Palmer, Gloria Pluimer, Alys Ratigan, Kerri Severson, Mickey Snook, Roberta Stevens, Betty Strobel, Raymond Summers, Pat Trumble, Holli Vanderbeek, Jerry Walenta, Lieutenant David Walton, Les Wermers, Dexter Wittman, Rapid City mayor Jim Shaw, former mayor Jerry Munson, and Connie Ewing.

Thanks to the efforts of these individuals, other concerned and committed citizens, and officials in Rapid City, the East North and East Boulevard areas of Rapid City have been effectively rehabilitated. The efforts of this organization may serve as a model for other Weed and Seed organizations in the country. Although ceasing operations, the vision and tireless efforts of individuals in the Rapid City Weed and Seed organization will be maintained. I commend the energetic and innovative work of the Rapid City Weed and Seed organization and the individuals involved in their great work over the past several years.●

CENTENNIAL OF THE FOUNDING OF STRATFORD, SOUTH DAKOTA

• Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. President, today I pay tribute to the centennial of the founding of the city of Stratford, SD. A latecomer in inclusion into Brown County, Stratford sprung up rapidly in just weeks.

Stratford was founded 100 years ago on the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroads. Stratford was a convenient commuter system to many of its neighboring cities at the time. In just 5 years, Stratford reached its peak population of 600.

Stratford is one of South Dakota's classic small towns. It has been the home of industry and farm-related businesses and has been served by a volunteer fire department since 1911. The Baribeau Honey Company, which processes about a million pounds of honey annually, was established in 1955 and is still a booming business. The post office and BS Bar and Grill are open to this day.

A hundred years after its founding, Stratford continues to be a vital community and a great asset to South Dakota. I am proud to honor the achievements of Stratford on this memorable occasion.●
